Pillsbury Returns As Engineer At Pumping Station

Howard Pillsbury, who left Andover several years ago, has been rehired by the Board of Public Works to serve as engineer at the pumping station, it is understood from reliable sources.

Pillsbury had served at the pumping station for a number of years prior to his resignation after having disagreed with the Board on matters of policy connected with the station.

The change is being made in an endeavor to provide better pumping service, since under recent conditions the pumps apparently have not been started early enough in the morning to provide sufficient reservoir load to take care of the day's demands.

Andover's "E" Bond Record Region's Best

Andover's final figures on the Seventh War Loan Drive, as reported by the State War Finance committee, are better than the earlier reports.

Of the over-all quota Andover raised 186.7%, total sales being $3,602,000. Of this total $2,959,000 was purchased by corporations. In Series E Bonds $274,000 was subscribed, representing 88.8% of the quota, but in Region 5 this was the best showing of any city or town on E bonds. Other issues netted $368,000 or 108.7% of the quota.

An electric iron which had not been turned off caused minor damage to the home of Melville Holden, Red Spring road, Tuesday morning. There was no one home at the time, but a neighbor, Frances Ratyna, 12, noticed the smoke and notified Mrs. John R. Sullivan, another neighbor, who sounded Box 56 at 9 a. m.

A small portion of the wall and the ironing board were burned, with damage estimated at $25.

Street Art Exhibit To Be Held Again

Andover will very probably have another Main street art exhibit this year, although nothing definite has been done as yet. John Wolcott of the American Art Association has written Miss Frances Dalton in connection with the exhibit, which will probably take place the first week in November as part of a nation-wide exhibit held in the interest of American artists.

Last year's exhibit, held in the local store windows, attracted a great deal of interest.

Committee Appoints New Teacher for Junior High

The school committee voted to appoint Miss Ansi Angelo of Hudson as teacher of English in the Junior high school to succeed Miss Mabel Barron, whose resignation was accepted with regret at the special school committee meeting held Monday evening.

Miss Angelo will receive a salary of $1600, plus the $2 weekly bonus. She is a graduate of Calvin Coolidge college and the graduate school of Boston University. She has taught in Bernardston high school and the Winchester, N. H. high school.

The committee also received the resignation of Mrs. Evelyn P. Chamberlain, who was appointed in the spring as teacher in the third grade of the Jackson school. Superintendent of Schools Erickson advised the committee that she was resigning because she and her child could find no house or apartment in which to live. No action was taken on her resignation, however.

New Officers Elected By Community Orchestra

Francis J. Rodericks was elected president of the Andover Community orchestra at a recent meeting held with the advisory committee. Other officers are: Secretary-treasurer, Helen Eaton; membership chairman, Mrs. Roger Higgins; ticket sales committee, Phoebe Noyes and James P. Christie; music committee chairman, Domenic Teoli; publicity, B. Chester Kennard and Hart Leavitt; librarian, Mrs. Joseph Dahle.

A report was given on the proceeds from the two concerts given during the past year, showing that $150 remained in the treasury after all expenses had been paid. This sum was divided equally between the Service Men's Fund, the Punchard Girls' band, and the women's committee of the Andover Guild.

An active program is being planned for the coming season.

Canning Center Opens July 30th

The Andover Canning Center will open on July 30 at the Free church, the late start being caused by the lateness of the fruit and vegetable seasons this year.

The Center will be under the supervision of Miss Esther Belair of Lawrence, who was in charge last year.

The facilities of the Center are open to all Andover residents. Vegetables and fruit may be brought to the church and canned there with the up-to-date equipment and conveniences that the Center affords. For a small charge, the work will be done by the workers at the Center.

Bible School To Hold Closing Program Friday

The daily vacation Bible school will hold its closing exercises on Friday evening, July 20, at 7 p. m. in the South church. Parents and friends of the children are invited to attend the program, which will be followed by an exhibition of the hand work done by the children in the different departments.

This will bring to a close two successful weeks, with 89 children enrolled at the beginning of the second week, and a staff of twenty workers.

Stefani to Finish Work On Stowe School Contract

At a special session of the school committee Monday night Superintendent Erickson reported that he had discussed the painting contract of the Stowe school with Mrs. Kidd, widow of James Kidd, who met his death after falling from the school last month. He stated that Mrs. Kidd wished to settle the contract on the amount of work done.

Mr. Erickson also announced that Loris Stefani had agreed to finish the job for $275, and he was given authority to complete these arrangements.

McKiniry Elected Punchard Coach

Kenneth K. McKiniry, physical instructor in the schools, was elected head coach of football and baseball at Punchard high school by the school committee when it met in special session Monday evening. The appointment will be in addition to his other duties, making his salary $3100, an increase of $400.

Four men were called before the board for interviews Monday evening, McKiniry being elected on motion of Dr. Malcolm B. McTernen, and receiving four votes. The others who were called were: Lieutenant Stafford J. Connor, U.S.N.R., of Exeter, N. H.; Richard J. Moynihan, head coach at Central Catholic high school; and James Jordan, assistant coach at Lawrence high school. The committee had previously chosen these four out of the eleven men considered for the position.

McKiniry received his B.S. degree at the University of New Hampshire in 1936. He was head coach at Biddeford, Maine, high school for two years, and Babylon, N. Y., for four years. He also played professional football.

A soldier steps outdoors for a breath of fresh air . . .

Alone, he pauses at the gate . . . "This is it," he thinks, feeling the wonderful realness of New England underfoot. "Home."

How right the old church looks, its blessed spire bathed in moonlight. Down the street is the same old friendly drug store. And beyond that—the newspaper office where he used to work.

Again, his pulse quickens as he looks at the house! His house just as he dreamed of it . . . the great elm . . . the neat picket fence . . . the white-pillared doorway beckoning in friendliness.

Even the squeak of the front gate hasn't changed . . .

Yes, this is the peace he's hungered after, on a thousand shattering nights when life everywhere seemed to be coming to an abrupt end.

HOME! The gladness in his heart almost hurts.

Soon . . . very soon . . . life will begin again—in earnest.

NEWS OF OUR MEN AND WOMEN IN UNIFORM

ABOARD THE U.S.S. QUINCY OFF JAPAN — James R. Palumbo, 20, seaman, second class, U.S.N.R. son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Palumbo, 39 Riverview street, went to the shores of Japan recently and helped a mighty naval task force hurl dynamite into the Japanese homeland. In a force of 3rd Fleet warships the Quincy turned her powerful guns on the Honshu steel city of Kamaishi, 275 miles north of Tokyo. More than 1,000 carrier-based planes also figured in the attack. The first ship to be fired upon in the Normandy landings, she was under fire for 19 days without a single casualty. Crew members displayed the same determination off Japan's shores that was exhibited when the ship sailed into an eight-day duel with a 14-inch German coastal gun off the coast of southern France. In January, 1945, the Quincy was temporary headquarters for the late President Roosevelt and his military and diplomatic staffs during the trip to the historic Yalta conference. Earlier this year she fought at Okinawa.

Cox. William P. Broderick writes the following from Okinawa: "Since leaving the States I have run into three Andoverites. The first was Bill Anderson of Red Spring road. This happened in Pearl Harbor. His ship was tied up next to mine. Next, I ran into Charlie Kearns of West Andover. We met on the beach at Iwo Jima. Next I met Ensign "Kip" McCleary of Red Spring road. While walking down a street in Guam, we both looked at each other for a minute or two and then finally recognized each other. On all three occasions the topic of discussion was Andover. One fact was established — we all want to get back." Cox. Broderick has participated in two campaigns, the battle for Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

Charles Ware, formerly of 21 William street, has written home that he met Freddie Boyce while in France. Charles is at Camp Baltimore, while Freddie is at Camp Boston.

Staff Sgt. Howard L. Scholtz, who recently landed at Windsor Locks, Conn., is enjoying a furlough at the family home on Sutherland street.

Henry A. Couture, baker, second class, Greenwood road, came through the battle for Okinawa aboard a battleship, without a scratch, helping fire more than five million pounds of shells at enemy targets. This tonnage exceeds that fired by all ships combined during the invasion bombardments of Tarawa or Makin, Roi-Namur or Eniwetok. One of the grand old ladies of the fleet, the New York celebrated her 31st birthday during the battle. The only capital ship to stay on the job without relief, she kept her 14-inch and five-inch guns firing salvos at island targets steadily.

First Lieutenant Frank Koza, who lives at 119 Andover street, has completed pre-separation processing at Langley Field, Va., AAF Training Command radar school, where he has been stationed. With a total of 83 points to his credit, Lieutenant Koza will be transferred shortly to a separation center near his home town, where he is expected to receive his honorable discharge from the Armed Forces.

WO Timothy A. McCarthy, 3 Summer street, is a member of a unit of the U. S. Army Transportation Corps, manning tugboats in the harbor at Ghent, Belgium. Before VE-Day, this operation played a major part in the U. S. Army Supply organization, as war materiel unloaded in Ghent was rushed directly to the front. The unit is now preparing the port for its part in the redeployment program.

Pfc. Robert W. Neil, son of Mrs. Isabella M. Neil, 23 Balmoral street, is a member of the 3rd Battalion of the 339th "Polar Bear" Regiment, which discovered a vast collection of priceless art treasures that had been taken by the Germans from all over Italy and hidden in a 15th Century castle in Italy. Tank-mounted troops of the battalion entered the castle and found a number of large, sealed crates with German lettering on them. Inspection of the crates revealed that they contained 350 pieces of art by such masters as Rembrandt, Raphael, Michaelangelo and Velasquez.

Sergeant Charles W. Levitt was awarded the Silver Star citation at a ceremony at Commonwealth Armory in Boston on July 12. The award was made posthumously to his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Levitt, now of Laconia, N. H. Mrs. Levitt is the former Edna Francis of this town. At one time Sergeant Levitt attended the public schools in Andover while staying with his grandfather, Mr. Charles J. Francis.

Two members of the Stafford family of Burnham road recently enlisted in the service. David Stafford has reported for active duty with the Army Air Force at Fort Devens, while his sister Ruth was sworn into the WAVES at the Boston Naval recruiting station a few days ago. She will leave July 26 for Hunter college, New York, where she will receive her basic training.

Pharmacist's Mate, 3/c, Anne A. Hathaway has been transferred to Camp Endicott, Davisville, R. I. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hathaway of 7 Carisbrooke street.

Ensign Frank W. Rockwell has been home for a few days after a trip to Halifax, Antwerp and Le Havre. His ship brought back many overseas veterans.

Apprentice Seaman Gordon Munroe of Sampson, N. Y., is enjoying a furlough at the home of his parents on Lowell street.

Navy Men Must Request Papers

There have been many questions asked the Townsman staff about the mailing of the Townsman to men in the Navy under the recent Navy Order. Briefly, no copy of the Townsman or any newspaper may be sent unless the request comes from the serviceman himself.

The Merrimack Mutual Fire Insurance Company has been paying for the sending of the paper to all Andover men and women in the service, but hereafter, it will be necessary for those in the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard overseas to send a formal request. Full text of the order follows:

ORDER OF THE POSTMASTER GENERAL

Newspaper and Periodical Publications for Personnel of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard Overseas.

Order No. 27851; Dated May 1, 1945.

At the request of the Navy Department, effective July 1, 1945, in order to conserve shipping space and to prevent nonessential mailings, the following arrangements between that Department and the Post Office Department shall govern the acceptance in the mails of newspapers and other periodical publications addressed to personnel of the Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard overseas.

1. Individual copies of newspapers and magazines offered for mailing by publishers, addressed via the fleet post offices at New York, N. Y., or San Francisco, Calif., to Navy, Marine Corps, and Coast Guard personnel on duty overseas, shall be accepted only when they are being sent in fulfilment of written requests initiated by the addressees for subscriptions or renewals of subscriptions.

2. Postmasters at the offices of mailing shall require publishers to present for their examination the requests from the addressees for subscriptions or renewals of subscriptions.

3. Relatives and friends may pay for the subscriptions or renewals of subscriptions provided the addressees have initiated requests therefor.

4. Complimentary copies sent by publishers, copies paid for by advertisers, and copies sent under any kind of arrangement whereby the requests of the addressees are solicited shall not be accepted.

5. Copies mailed in fulfilment of subscriptions which are unexpired on the effective date of this order shall be accepted until the subscriptions expire.

6. Publishers mailing copies in accordance with the foregoing shall include with the address a certificate reading: "Mailing in conformity with P. O. D. Order No. 27851." Copies not bearing his certificate should be promptly returned to the publishers.

Copied from "The Postal Bulletin" of May 4, 1945.

Mrs. Roy D. Wheeler, the former Catherine Lindsay, and daughter of William N. Lindsay, formerly of Andover, visited with Miss Annie S. Lindsay on Wednesday. Mrs. Wheeler now resides in Hawaii.

Miss Gladys Brainerd, employed at the local office of the Welfare and Old Age Bureau, is enjoying a two weeks' vacation at Brewster, Cape Cod.

Mr. and Mrs. George Birdsall of Florence street are spending a two week's vacation at Old Orchard Beach, Maine.

Your Sleepers Roll off to WAR

But—

YOUR TRAINS STILL RUN

Although two-thirds of our sleeping car business was abolished Sunday by the order of the Office of Defense Transportation, we cheerfully comply with this wartime ruling. Neither this railroad, nor any of the 700 businessmen making essential trips and others who filled these sleeping cars to capacity every night, would wish to deprive our fighting men of the best equipment available.

The letter reproduced here explains why there will be no sleeping cars on the following trains:

Colonel J. M. Johnson, Director,
Office of Defense Transportation,
Room 5136 I. C. C. Building,
Washington 25, D. C.
Dear Colonel Johnson:

This will acknowledge receipt of your letter of July 6 concerning General Order ODT 53,* which prohibits, effective Noon, July 15, 1945, the operation of sleeping cars to points of destination 450 miles or less from point of origin of any such car, the purpose being to provide more sleeping car equipment for our armed services.

We thoroughly appreciate the need for additional sleeping cars for our service men, which necessitates the issuance of this Order, and I am sure the public will also. Please be assured, therefore, that the railroads will wholeheartedly cooperate, not only in carrying out the provisions of the Order, but also in every other way so as to provide the necessary equipment for handling our military requirements.

You realize, of course, the burden such an Order places upon other important travel connected with our war effort and the inevitable creation of inequities which of necessity need be reviewed and corrected in the light of experience. I mention this fact because these are features which I know you will not want to overlook in such further consideration of the matter as may be necessary.

Yours very truly,
(S) J. J. PELLEY

BUT — all these trains will continue to operate on their accustomed schedules with coaches only. Boston and Maine will do everything it can to make night coach travel as comfortable as possible, supplying air-conditioned cars whenever available.

Sleeping cars will continue to operate on the following trains:

THE GULL —

*This order will make available to the Armed Forces, for the transportation of troops, an additional 895 Pullman cars and will give them exclusive use of approximately 66 per cent of the sleeping cars in the United States.

Even though accustomed comforts will be lacking, businessmen traveling at night in and out of Northern New England can be assured prompt arrival at their destinations — regardless of weather conditions.

Boston and Maine cheerfully gives up two-thirds of its sleeping car business during this emergency to help make our fighting men more comfortable. And we know that you, for the same reason, will just as cheerfully accept any discomforts you may experience while on necessary travel.

WEDDINGS

Wood-Addison

At a pretty ceremony performed last Monday evening in the West Parish church, Miss Magdalene C. Addison, daughter of Mrs. Magdalene Addison of Chandler road, became the bride of William Allen Wood, son of Mrs. Lyman Wood of Salem street. Rev. Newman Matthews, pastor of the West church, officiated at the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of white net, and was attended by Miss Margaret Ennis of New York City. She was given in marriage by her brother, Corporal William Addison, U. S. M. C., at present stationed at the Brooklyn Navy Yard. The best man was the bridegroom's brother, Philip Wood.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the Andover Country Club, after which the couple left on a short wedding trip. They plan to make their home with the bride's mother on Chandler road.

LIBRARY NOTES

Stories at Playgrounds

This year Miss Ballard is continuing the popular practice of telling stories at the community playgrounds. Her schedule is somewhat different—Mondays, at Ballardvale; Tuesdays, at the Shawsheen playgrounds; Wednesdays, at the Central playgrounds. In addition to her story-telling, Miss Ballard will have collections of books to circulate to the children.

Edinburgh Child Art

The exhibit of art work done by the children in Edinburgh is still on display at the Library. Those who have seen it have been interested and appreciative. New drawings are being displayed, with the more interesting of the original collection still on view.

New Books

Among the new books added to the Library are the following:

Fiction Interim, by Hutchinson; Staff Nurse, by Hancock; Amaru, by Frisbie; The Wayfarers, by Wickenden; The Broken Arc, by Meyneng; The Townsman, by Sedges; Dead Center, by Collins; The Happy Time, by Fontaine; The Fog Comes, by Collins; She Fell Among Actors, by Warren; The Silver Darlings, by Gunn; Stronger Than Fear, by Tregarskis; Commodore Hornblower, by Forester; The Red-Haired Lady, by Corbett; Silver Moon Cottage, by Bassett; 77 Willow Road, by Irvine; None Shall Know, by Albrand; The Curse of the Bronze Lamp, by Dickson; Proof of the Pudding, by Taylor; The Nurse at Whittle's, by Hancock; Faces in a Dusty Picture, by Kersh; That Girl From Memphis, by Steele; The Case of the Golddigger's Purse, by Gardner.

Fiction: Japanese Militarism, by Maki; Electronics, by Mills; Aircraft Yearbook; Home to India, by Rama Rau; Memories and Opinions, by Quiller-Couch; The Brooklyn Dodgers, by Graham; Complete Paintings of Velasquez; Enrico Caruso, by Caruso; Building or Buying a House, by Johnstone; Estimating Building Costs, by Dingman; Land of the Free, by Hockett; Through Japanese Eyes, by Tolischus;; V-Letter, and Other Poems, by Shapiro; These Are the Russians, by Lauterbach; American Woman's Cook Book; Too Small a World: The Life of Mother Cabrini, by Maynard; The Northern Garden, Week by Week, by Abbott; Jews in the Post-War World, by Gottschalk; Civil Life in Wartime Germany, Seydewitz; Poems for a Son With Wings, by Coffin; Big Government: Can We Control It?, by Pusey; Raffles, the Bird Who Thinks He Is a Person, by Wells; The U. S. in the World Economy, by Lary; The Fundamentals of Public School Administration, by Reeder; Philadelphia Lawyer, by Pepper; Cut Is the Branch, by Butler; Reflections in a Mirror, by Morgan; The Sinews of Peace. by Feis;

TO HOLD CARD PARTY

A card party will be held on Saturday afternoon, July 21, from 2:30 to 4:30 on the lawn at the home of Miss Anna M. Greeley, 7 Summer street, for the benefit of Court St. Monica, No. 783, Catholic Daughters of America. A large committee, consisting of the following members, has been working on arrangements for the event: Miss Anna M. Greeley, chairman; Mrs. Gertrude Bailey, Mrs. Margaret Campbell, Mrs. Monica Coleman, Mrs. Anna Collins, Mrs. Kathleen Davis, Mrs. Josephine Doherty, Mrs. Lydia Doyle, Mrs. Teresa Fleming, Mrs. Ida Flynn, Mrs. Sally Koerner, Mrs. Margaret Mahoney, Mrs. Mae Markey, Miss Mary Mahoney, Mrs. Martha Morrissey, Mrs. Florence Naughton, Mrs. Annie Quill, Mrs. Winifred Quinn, Mrs. Margaret Robertson, Mrs. Ann Sullivan, Mrs. Lydia Shiebler, Mrs. Amelia Viveney, Mrs. Fern Wennik and Mrs. Helen Young. Grand Regent Rose G. Proulx is a member ex officio of the committee.

Members are requested to bring prizes and cards for playing. Refreshments will be served and there will be a garden gate prize.

BIRTHS

A son to Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wallace, 54 High street, at the Lawrence General hospital Saturday.

A daughter, Deborah Whittier, to Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Fitts of Phillips Academy at the Phillips House in Boston on Friday, July 6.

A daughter to Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Lancaster, 3 Binney street, at the Lawrence General hospital Thursday.

William T. Rich, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Rich, Jr., 57 Central street, has entered Tufts College as a member of the R. O. T. C. Naval Training Unit. He is a graduate of Phillips Academy.

$500,000,000 . . . in the bag!

HALF a billion dollars . . . $59 for every man, woman and child living here . . . that's what the vacation business was worth to New England in 1941.

In the five years just before the war, The New Haven spent $300,000 promoting New England in the great travel market that lies between New York, the Mississippi and the Ohio River where 78% of all New England travel originates.

As a result, we not only brought many of the 2,500,000 vacationists a year who come to New England but our freight trains helped keep them fed and supplied during their stay.

Good business for us? Certainly!

Good for you, too!

But yesterday's recreational income for New England can hardly be compared with what it can be after the war when the nation's pent-up urge to go places is released.

We are going after this business with an extensive selling campaign plus fine equipment and service.

Will you be ready to receive these guests and make their visit something to cheer about?

Rain Halts Game Between Malden Twi and Townies

One of the best teams on the Town Team's schedule, Malden Twi, came to Andover last Sunday only to be rained out. The newly organized team which was to play probably was the best aggregation of ball players to be seen here at any time. It is expected now that this game will be played on Sunday, August 12.

This week on Sunday the team faces the strong Rockport club, who last year put up a fine game at the Playstead, losing to the Townies by a very close score. The game will be played at 2:30 this week.

WAR ART EXHIBITION

An exhibition of war paintings commissioned by Life Magazine will open at the Addison Gallery of American Art, Phillips Academy, on Friday, July 20. Circulated by the American Federation of Arts, the show contains twenty-seven paintings, in gouache and oil, by Julien Binford, Aaron Bohrod, Floyd Davis, Fletcher Martin, Ogden Pleissner and Byron Thomas.

This is the second exhibition of Life-commissioned war paintings to tour the country and the paintings in this group report actions in the Aleutians, the Port of New York, Graet Britain and Normandy. Most of them have been reproduced in Life during the past year.

The show will continue at the Addison Gallery until August 15.

Time For A Purge

There are in Andover some office-holders whose terms will expire next March, and whose terms should be allowed to expire permanently at that time. We can wait until February as we usually do to do something about it, and the result will be as it always has been that the misfit office-holders will slide back into office by default.

The time to start the ball rolling is now. Look over the list of those whose terms expire, and decide now whether or not they should be replaced. Then do something about it. Get together with your friends and plan a campaign for a worthwhile office-holder, start talking him up, get him to meet people. Last March we had an election in which several of the best candidates were also-rans just because those interested in their campaigns didn't bestir themselves to get out and do something about it, early enough. It was another example of too little and too late.

Here's your list. Do you think they've all done a good job? Do you think they're all the best persons we could have in these town offices?

These terms expire in March: Selectman and assessor, Edward P. Hall; collector of taxes, James P. Christie; board of public works, William F. Barron and P. LeRoy Wilson; school committee, William A. Doherty, Rev. John S. Moses and Dr. Malcolm McTernen; board of health, Dr. Percy J. Look; planning board, Edward P. Hall; library trustees, Dr. Claude M. Fuess.

There are a few names there that could be changed, don't you think? Some of them shouldn't be, but some of them should. The whole trouble is that the fellow that's in has the inside track, and he's hard to replace. We saw an example of that last March in the Board of Health campaign when the incumbent won with the other two candidates totalling more than the winner did. It was obvious that the final outcome did not represent the wishes of the majority of Andover's voters, but it was all the fault of inadequate and poorly-planned electioneering. Both of the unsuccessful candidates, although eminently better qualified than the winner, were not too well-known in town, but they were pretty much left to themselves to put themselves across. There was no organized effort to promote either on the part of citizens who are interested in good government; not much more was done than to sit around and moan because there were two fellows opposing the in-

SOMETHING
The OPA is not to be blamed for

That is, the present conditions prevailing in the supply of fresh meat.

For the past several weeks no market man can order Beef, Lamb, Pork, Veal or Poultry with any assurance he will get any of these items. Their answer to us is, "We will send you SOMETHING."

1st—What that SOMETHING is, we do not know.
2nd—How much of that SOMETHING, we do not know.
3rd—What day we'll get SOMETHING, we do not know.

As we have over 600 regular grocery customers, it is just impossible to take orders for any particular cut of meat. The customer who is willing to take SOMETHING in the meat line of the SOMETHING we ourselves have to take, will do much better than the customer who just wants a Leg of Lamb, Roast of Beef, Pot Roast, Roast of Pork, or Steak or Chops. No one can blame the OPA, or the wholesaler, for this present condition. The trouble goes higher up.

cumbent instead of just one. Everybody felt it was a pity that one wouldn't drop out, but nobody cared much about doing anything about it.

It's going to take some thought; it's going to take some organizing; it's going to have to start right away, NOW. Or next March we're going to find that those who should be purged are still holding office, and for three more years everybody will sit back and moan because we don't have better officeholders.

This Sober Town

Shorts Story

We dropped in on a friend the other night and his wife answered the door. On seeing us she laughed —not at us—and turned her head back into the house to shout: "Okay, it's all right to come out."

So he came out from wherever he had dashed when the door-bell rang. He came out attired in an undershirt and a pair of navy blue tennis shorts—this of course being the reason why he had retired in such utter haste.

We couldn't help but dropping into one of our male-emancipation moods. Why the heck should we men have to jump up from a card table and go hide in a closet just because we're attired comfortably in clothes which, though skimpy, by male standards are still plenty when compared with what the gentler sex wears — or doesn't wear. Why, we can remember the day when the ads usd to say "bare midriff;" now you don't have to use the adjective "bare" any more; you just assume it is.

We'll admit that on some male forms shorts are not exactly prepossessing, but golly, look at some of the women. They're going to be comfortable no matter how it affects the eyes of those that have to see them. So count us in favor of the unabashed wearing of shorts by males, the long and the short, the thin and the stout, the old and the young. We might as well be comfortable, fellows, and not go around with long pants clinging to our knees, etc., on these hot summer days, when the ladies have nothing over their legs but self-applied tan.

* * * *

Fifty friers (and don't we wish we had one) were killed by a dog on Wednesday, probably the result of his going hungry on meatless Tuesday. The owner notified police of the fowl play, as each of the birds was valued at three dollars. Pickin' on a chicken is a serious offense, especially in these days when there is an egg shortage. We'd like to know feather or not that dog was punished.

FIRE DEPARTMENT AIDS LAWRENCE

The Andover fire department again on Monday night lent aid to the City of Lawrence when a spectacular fire at the Ayer Mill Dyehouse resulted in the ringing of a general alarm in that city. The smoke and the sky-glow as the flames leaped into the sky from several tall wood-encased ventilating stacks were plainly visible in parts of Andover.

AMERICAN HEROES

by WOODY COWAN

CAPT. CARL P. R. DAHLSTROM wears a Merchant Marine Distinguished service medal as a result of his inspiration to a valorous crew that saved the SS Lyman Abbott, when discharging explosive war cargo and other materiel that War Bonds had provided for our fighting men. Under heavy aerial attack the work went on until a nearby vessel exploded. Another blazing ship bore down upon the Abbott, but Capt. Dahlstrom discharged the vital cargo.

Why is a telephone like a pitchfork?

Both are basic farm tools. In fact, in a survey we made among New England farmers, 86% of them listed the telephone as a "necessity" in their work. In the hands of these farmers, each tool will be essential in its own way in meeting the great world-wide demand for food after the war.

To provide the best possible telephone service for this big job is the object of the study and planning now being done by telephone experts. They are adapting the technical improvements perfected before the war, and many others that have come out of the war, to the special needs of farm telephone development.

In the forthcoming days of peace, New England families in rural areas will reap the benefit of this planning as soon as the necessary equipment and manpower are available.

Russian Relief Supplies Fill a Desperate Need

A message was received by the Russian War Relief in this country from Michael Marmulev, vice chairman of the Central Committee of the Red Cross Society of Russia.

The message reads in part: "Your aid, friends, has come in good time. In 1945 we have received thirty-eight carloads of parcels. They contained ten thousand men's and ladies' coats, about fifteen thousand men's suits and a thousand yards fabrics for children's apparel."

Clothes for Russian war relief may be left at the Red Cross rooms on Main street, or call Mrs. Julius Rockwell if you wish them picked up.
